CAPTAIN COURSEY

Therapists Sought Here By Air Force

The important services performed in today's Air Force by officer occupational therapists and physical therapists, coupled with the exciting responsibilities of tomorrow's Aispace Force are being explanded this week by Capt. Junie M. Coursey at the Air Force Recruiting Office, 1319½ Sartori Ave.

Capt. Coursey is the chief of the medical specialist corps selection division of the USAF Recruiting Service.

She said today's important services are providing rehabilitation for Air Force personnel and their families in modern USAF hospitals in the United.

and their families in modern USAF hospitals in the United States and at overseas bases. Both therapists work under the direction of a physician to provide the various activities which will increase muscle strength, improve coordination, increase joint motion and assist with social and mental adjustment.

sist with social and mental adjustment.

Tomorrow's problems will concern the development of proper exercise for men crammed in space capsules, determining the best possible posture for space travelers within their cramped environment, and combating monotony for crewmen and passengers hurtling through space.

The Air Force now is offening direct commissions for
